3. Didn't Like the Product / Size Not as Per Requirement / Changed My Mind / Don't Need Anymore

We ensure only quality products reach our customers, as each product goes through a quality check process before dispatch.

However, as these are art and décor products, please note that there may be slight variation in look, finish, color, texture and size. The colors shown on the website are close to the real product color to the extent possible. However, depending on your display screen, lighting and photography, colors may vary slightly.

For handmade, hand-finished, customized or made-to-order products, minor variations may occur due to the nature of the work.

Returns for “changed my mind”, “didn't like the product”, “size not as per requirement”, “color expectation difference” or “don't need anymore” are accepted only if the product is unused, undamaged, in original packaging and approved by our team.

If the returned product is not found in its original condition, your request will be rejected and the product may be shipped back to you. Return shipping cost in such cases will be borne by the customer.

Any damage to the product during return shipment is the customer's responsibility.
